Prez sez

Wow, what a year!

Thanks to John Hetz, Foundation Chair and many generous club members we have set a club record for donations to the Paul Harris Society.

Thanks to Harvey Miller we had interesting, informative and fun programs. Secret Witness, Ed Basl's daughter and Doug Hill stand out in my memory.

Thanks to the Board our budget is straightened out and we have a solid financial base to support the club for the next several years. Robb Hemsett and Steve Bamberger deserve special recognition for their hard work on the club's financials.

Jim Gerhard created 48 weeks of newsletters. Schedules, articles, pictures, lists of birthdays and anniversaries made up a complete history of this year's activities.

International Convention

Currently 6 club members are in Salt Lake City at the RI annual convention. As always my favorite part of the convention is visiting the House of Friendship. The booths include some which are informative, some silly and some examples of conspicuous consumption. There's a booth for Rotarians on the Internet and in the next aisle is a booth for a Fellowship of Rotarians who use the Internet. Clubs and districts have booths. One district in Japan has a booth looking for partners for matching grants. The Los Altos, CA has a booth about their project to fight AIDS. There's a booth about maternal health in Uganda. A little further on there are booths selling cheap jewelry, skin cream (Never have dry skin again) and fancy clothes.

Jon attended the Youth Exchange Officers pre-conference. All the attendees are staying at our hotel so I have become re-acquainted with his counterparts in Brazil, Germany, Sweden and Taiwan. These are Rotarians who are passionate about helping youth exchanges be as safe and transformational as possible. Jon was a presenter on a panel. Several attendees have complimented him on the presentation. The Plenary session today had three speakers; two RYE alumni and one former Ambassadorial Scholar. All three encouraged Rotarians to continue our good works and to be proud of our work for world peace and understanding.
